ABOUT ME

I'm a data scientist and analyst who also works in front-end development and sometimes does a bit of backend. I use Python, R, SQL, React, Angular, and tools like Tableau, Docker, DBeaver, and AI agents to solve problems and build useful things. I've worked in travel and municipal sectors, helping teams make smarter decisions—like reducing financial losses at Snapptrip by improving room-inventory analysis. I enjoy collaborating, mentoring, and explaining complex ideas clearly. I speak English (C1), and I'm learning Italian (B1).
